

Program Grant Application – Concept Paper Questions

Provided for your benefit while preparing your proposal or considering applying are the questions asked in the Connecticut Health Foundation’s program grant concept paper application. Note that all proposals must be submitted through the CT Health grantee portal (<https://cthealth.fluxx.io>). Paper applications submitted by email or mail will not be accepted.

To be considered for funding, projects must align with at least one of CT Health’s strategic objectives. You can review our strategic plan for 2018-2022 here.

To the Connecticut Health Foundation, health equity means that everyone has the opportunity to be as healthy as possible. We focus on improving health outcomes for people of color because those are the groups whose opportunities to achieve optimal health are the most unequal.

Project Details

1. What type of project are you proposing?

- Advocacy and policy
- Demonstration, pilot, or proof of concept
- Evaluation
- Feasibility, development, or strategic planning
- Media
- Non-clinical research
- Strategic communications
- Other: _____

2. What barrier to health equity for communities of color are you trying to address?

3. CT Health funds projects with the potential for large-scale, statewide impact. This could mean a single-site program that provides proof of concept or tests a model that could be replicated elsewhere or a research project that informs the field. We call this “systems change.” If you are not sure what we mean by systems change, learn more here.

What system are you targeting with the proposed project?

4. Provide a brief description of your proposed project and its primary objectives.

5. What are the expected outcomes?

6. Indicate the total funds needed to implement the project and the amount requested from CT Health. If applicable, indicate other sources of funding – both committed and pending.

The CT Health team will follow up within 14 business days of your concept paper’s submission. If you have any questions in the meantime, reach out to the team at grants@cthealth.org.
