

HEALTH INSURANCE IN CONNECTICUT

HOW ARE PEOPLE COVERED?

Most Connecticut residents get their health insurance through their jobs, while more than one in five get coverage through Medicaid (known as HUSKY in the state). Here's how coverage breaks down overall, as of 2021.

BREAKDOWN OF COVERAGE IN CONNECTICUT

TYPES OF COVERAGE

- Employer-sponsored insurance: This is coverage people get from their job or a family member's job.
- Individual market: This is insurance people purchase for themselves or their families, either through the state's exchange, Access Health CT, or on the off-exchange individual market.
- Medicaid: Known as HUSKY in Connecticut, this coverage is available to people with low-incomes or people with disabilities. It is run by the state in partnership with the federal government.
- Medicare: This coverage is available to people ages 65 and older and some people with disabilities. It is run by the federal government.
- Military: This is coverage for people serving in the military or their families, as well as those covered through the VA.

Learn more about health insurance and the importance of getting people covered by visiting www.cthealth.org.